JAPAN'S FOREIGN POLICY

WARNING ISSUED TO CHINA

GUARD MUST BE TAKEN AGAINST
"RED" ACTIVITIES

confusion in the country continues as ever, while anti-Japanese movement shows no sign of abatement.

It was reported that during the Plenary Session of the Central Executive Commission of the Kuomintang, convened at Nanking in December last, a proposal for a positive campaign against Japan was submitted, which called for military operations along the North China frontier, support for the Volunteer Armies of the North East and an anti-Japanese boycott. Information obtained from various sources since leads us to believe that this proposal for a positive anti-Japanese movement was actually adopted by the Kuomintang Congress. As a matter of fact, Chinese troops are at present in the process of concentration near the borders of Manchukuo, and some of them have, as I have already stated, invaded the Province of Jehol. The Japanese Government cannot look upon such a state affairs in China without the gravest apprehension.

Warning to China.

We are compelled to warn the Government and people of China against any unfortunate eventualities that may arise from the situation, and we invite them to think seriously before proceeding further in that direction. The report of what has come to be called the Lytton Commission, on the Sino-Japanese question was submitted to the Council of the League of Nations in October last, and the observations of the Japanese Government on the same report were submitted in November to the same body. Since these documents were both made public, the contents are already known to you all.

Our observations are simply an elaboration from different angles of the fundamental view of the Japanese Government that peace in the Far East can be secured only by recognizing Manchukuo and assisting it to achieve a healthy growth. Our Government seized every occasion at the Council and Assembly of the League, and in course of negotiations with other Governments, to expound this thesis of our observations with the utmost care and thoroughness.

We will persist in our endeavours, not only as regards the special Committee of Nineteen, which resumed discussion of the Sino-Japanese dispute on January 16, but at various meetings of the League, and at every possible opportunity, until the above thesis is thoroughly elucidated and understood. It is hardly necessary to say that the Japanese Government, which has always extended hearty co-operation to the League and devoted its best efforts to the enhancement of its prestige, is ready now, as ever, to collaborate fully and in friendliest manner with that Body in its efforts to contribute to the peace and prosperity of the Far East.

Japan and the League.

However, the Japanese Government believe that as long as the League is concerned with questions relating to China, a certain elasticity should be allowed in the operation of the Covenant in view of the exceptional and abnormal conditions of that country. In point of fact, various principles of international law and usage governing ordinary relations between different States are in practice considerably modified when applied to China.

The Covenant of the League cannot alone remain an exception to that rule. Any attempt to apply the covenant to the abnormal situation in China on the analogy of an apparently similar case or situation in European affairs is bound to fail. Such an attempt is vain and unrealistic. It will only complicate and aggravate the situation and injure needlessly the prestige of the League, indicating thereby a severe blow to the cause of universal peace. For securing permanent peace in the Orient, co-operation and united efforts, as I said before, of Japan, China and Manchukuo are essential. At the same time harmony and collaboration between Japan, Manchukuo and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics are equally important.

Japan and the Soviets.

Fortunately, the Soviet Union Government, ever since the beginning of the Manchurian incident has maintained an attitude to maintain their good relations with Japan. This is a matter for congratulation for good relationship among Japan, Manchukuo and the Soviet Union.

There are those who fear whether the recent restoration of diplomatic relations between the Soviet Union and China might not add vigour to Communist propaganda throughout the Orient. This is not the occasion for me to pass judgment upon this sort of opinion. However, should the "Red" movement in the Yangtze Valley and South China, which have long suffered from the activities of Communists, and the depredations of Communist armies, gain in strength as a result of Sino-Russian rapprochement, that would be a serious menace to peace in the Orient, against which Japan must certainly be on guard.

I may take this opportunity to say something on the question of the non-aggression Pact between Japan and the Soviet Union. The principle of a non-aggression Pact between Japan and the Soviet is not only embodied in the Russo-Japanese basic treaty, signed some years ago at Peking, and provided for the in the anti-war Pact to which they are both signatories, but has shown itself to be a living force, as being fully demonstrated by the actual relations between the two countries during the past years and especially during the trying period of recent date.

Only when it comes to the matter of clothing this principle, and this actual relationship, in a formal treaty of non-aggression, views vary as to the time and form. You know how varied opinion has been on the matter since last spring, when the proposal was first advanced by the Soviet Union. In view of divergent opinions stoutly maintained in different quarters, the Japanese Government concluded that the time has not yet arrived for negotiating a non-aggression Pact, superimposed upon treaties now in force. Our reply to that effect was sent to the Soviet Union Government toward the end of last year.

That does not mean, of course, that we entertain the remotest intention of aggression against the Soviet Union, but quite the contrary, and I am sure our position is fully understood and appreciated by the Soviet Union.

Disarmament.

The general Disarmament Conference, since its first meeting at Geneva in February last, continued its deliberations on various important questions covering land, sea and air forces. This is a conference of unprecedented magnitude attended as it is by representatives of practically all Nations of the World. Because of the natural solicitude of each and every participating Power for its own national defence, and consequent complications and conflicts of varied interests which this entails, the Conference has as yet reached no general agreement. Disarmament as enterprise for peace, is not only one of the principal missions of the League of Nations but it is a matter which is at present engaging the greatest attention on the part of the Powers.

It has always been the policy of the Japanese Government to accord sincere co-operation and full contribution to the enterprise. It is in accordance with this policy that our delegates, now at Geneva, are exerting their best efforts in collaboration with their colleagues of other nationalities to bring the Conference to a successful conclusion, and that our Government spontaneously submitted a proposal calculated to effect a drastic reduction in the naval armaments of the world. This proposal of ours covers among other items the reduction in the size of vessels of various classes, the abolition of aircraft-carriers, the reduction in the number of capital ships and "A Class" cruisers, and a reduction of the total tonnage allotments of "B Class" cruisers and destroyers, according to which, through the abolition of aircraft-carriers and the reduction in the number of capital ships and "A Class" cruisers alone, it is calculated that a reduction, amounting altogether to 1,300,000 tons will be realized in the navies of Japan, Great Britain the United States, France and Italy.

Our proposal is based upon the principles of disarmament as generally accepted at the present Conference, particularly the principle that power for attack should be reduced, and power for defence increased. From the same principle it logically follows that greater sacrifices should be made by the superior naval power than by the inferior one. If the two were both to reduce their navies in equal ratio, the sense of security on the part of the latter would be unduly and unjustly diminished. I am confident that since our proposal takes into account, as far as possible, all points insisted upon by the various Powers concerned, a thorough examination will finally convince them of its practicability as well as of its equity and reasonableness.

The Economic Field.

To turn to the economic field throughout the world, in addition to the obstructions to trade created by the suspension of the gold standard system by more than forty nations, and the confusion existing in exchange markets, we see that all countries are busily engaged in erecting artificial trade barriers by raising customs tariffs, or by putting limitations or prohibitions on exports and imports. It is to be greatly regretted that as a result of this policy the Closed Door, which is now practised everywhere in trade and industry, the universally cherished principle of freedom of trade has been entirely reversed. The principle of the free exchange of goods between nations constitutes, along with that of travel and residence, the very foundation of general progress and prosperity.

Whenever this cardinal principle ceases to operate smoothly there will be no means of realizing common well being and prosperity of all nations and no hope for the true progress and peace of mankind. However, it is encouraging that the desire to conduct earnest investigations as to the best means of ridding the world of its economic ills is becoming more apparent everywhere. The Japanese Government are prepared to lend a willing hand in this kind of international undertaking. For instance, the World Economic and Financial Conference, to be convened in the near future, is an expression of this universal aspiration and our Government, participating in the Conference of the Preparatory Committee, are proceeding in conjunction with other Governments, with various kinds of preliminary studies. We will do all in our power to make that Conference a success. Thus far I have spoken on various aspects of foreign questions confronting Japan. I desire to conclude my address with a few words on the basic ideas of the Japanese Government which underlie all that I have stated above.

Principles of Japan's Policy.

It is needless to say that the fundamental principle of Japan's foreign policy, is to secure the peace of the Orient and as a corollary, that of the World. Now it is the view of the Japanese Government that in the light of the realities of the international situation, it is essential, in order to obtain true peace, that while accepting the universality of various principles subserving the cause of peace, due and proper elasticity corresponding to the exigencies of actual conditions should be allowed in their practical application.

It is also imperative to respect those real forces which are actually rendering peace possible in various parts of the world. The League of Nations Covenant, very wisely provides that regional understandings

THE BORNEO CO., LIMITED

BIG ECONOMIES EFFECTED

RESULTS OF LAST YEAR'S TRADING

London.—The following are extracts from the speech delivered by the Chairman of the Company, Sir Adam Ritchie, at the recent annual general meeting of the shareholders:—

Before reviewing the accounts, I would invite your attention to the new office premises which we are occupying and into which we moved at the end of last month. Our previous offices, which we had occupied for a period of some six years, were unsuitable for the present-day requirements of our business, and our lease expired at the end of last month. We decided to avail ourselves of the space offered in this new building. I may add that the change will result in very considerable economies, in addition to providing our staff with more comfortable and pleasant surroundings.

Large economies in working have been put into operation, both abroad, and here in London, and whilst it naturally must take some time for the full effect of those economies to be felt, I can inform you that during the year our overhead and trading charges throughout the East had been reduced by approximately eighteen per cent, and in this country by just under thirty per cent. Further, after taking into account the economies which, as I have mentioned, will result from our removal to this office, our charges at this end will show a reduction of at least forty per cent below the figure of eighteen months ago. In passing I would like to mention that in so far as those economies have been effected by reductions in salaries, all have shared alike, from the members of your Board to the latest joined recruit.

Reduction in Turnover.

Coming now to a review of our trading during the past year, on the imports side of our business, the large reduction in turnover has in the main been due to the fall in world prices for commodities, and the consequent lowering of the purchasing power of those countries. But the reduction is not due to this entirely, because in one section, that of piece goods, we have deliberately curtailed our business owing to the steadily diminishing shall be respected. In this sense our Government believe that any plan for erecting an edifice of peace in the Far East should be based upon the recognition that the constructive force of Japan is the mainstay of tranquility in this part of the World. Japan entertains no territorial designs anywhere in the globe; she has no intention to pick a quarrel with any country. She only desires to ensure her national existence by such means as will accord with international justice, and to work hand-in-hand with neighbour nations for the peace of the Orient and of the World. It is our resolve, and our duty, as a Nation, to see that she contributes her resources, her power and her prestige, to that end.

Such has been the underlying spirit of Japan's foreign policy ever since the first days of Meiji. Such is the spirit behind the action we have taken in regard to the Manchurian question, to Russo-Japanese relations and the activities of the League of Nations in the Far East.

Our recent proposal for Naval Disarmament has been inspired by the same idea. It is the ardent hope of the Japanese Government that Japan, guided by the All-Pervading Spirit may maintain the friendliest relations with all nations, and promote both commercial and cultural intercourse and pursue the path leading to the realization of the higher ideals of humanity.

Judging from the number of orders received from overseas since the announcement of the 1933 Morris programme, the progress recorded by Morris Motors Ltd. in world markets during last season will for the current season not only be maintained, but substantially increased.

The Morris Ten has proved an immediate success. The Morris Factory has received from all over the world congratulatory comments on this new model, which is commonly conceded to represent, both in looks and performance, the greatest value for money of any car in the same category. In response to numerous requests, a handsome and roomy four-seater touring model has now been made available on the Morris Ten chassis, with brown upholstery and with black or brown cellulose

CONSUMPTION HAS BEEN CURED.

A REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION HAS BEEN FOUND.

DR. F. J. YONKMAN, DISCOVERER OF THE NEW REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION.

Marvellous as it may seem after centuries of failure, a remedy has been discovered that has cured the deadly Consumption even in the advanced stages of the disease. No one will longer doubt that Consumption can be cured after reading the proof of hundreds of cases cured by this wonderful discovery—some after change of climate and all other remedies tried had failed, and the case had been pronounced hopeless of cure. This new remedy has also proved itself effective and speedy in curing Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and other serious throat and lung troubles. In order that all in need of this wonderful product of Science may learn of its efficacy for themselves, a Company has been formed to distribute it to the World, and full particulars can be obtained by writing to Dr. F. J. YONKMAN, C. Ltd. (Dept. C. 281), 118/120, Fleet St., London, E.C.4, and mentioning this paper.

ABSOLUTELY FREE.

Do not wait if you have any of the symptoms of Consumption, if you have Chronic Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma or any Throat or Lung Trouble, write to-day and benefit yourself before it is too late.

returns which have been secured from the source for some years past, consequent upon the growing competition for Eastern markets from all manufacturing countries, and especially in recent years from India and Japan. Not only have margins been reduced in some instances almost to vanishing point, but the credit facilities which it has been necessary to extend to Bazaar dealers have introduced into the business a measure of speculation which is inconmensurate with the returns.

In other sections of our imports business there are still reasonable prospects of making profits, and it is the policy of your Board to concentrate all efforts upon those sections so long as fair margins can be secured.

On the other side of our business, in the exports of teak, tea and rubber, it will be appreciated that the conditions ruling the markets for those products during the past year have made it impossible to earn profits. Only in our teak operations were we able to avoid a loss, and that in spite of a heavy reduction in offtake at much reduced prices, coupled with an adverse rate of exchange in Siam for the last six months of the year. I think you will agree with me that this is very creditable to those who are in charge of our teak operations in Siam.

As you are probably aware, the Government of Siam recently underwent a somewhat radical change. The new Government has already inspired confidence abroad, and from our long experience and happy association with the Siamese as a nation, I feel that we have nothing to fear through the change which has taken place.

Dutch East Indies.

The Dutch East Indies Government have maintained the gold standard, resulting in increased costs in terms of sterling, while, on the other hand, sterling prices realised for the Estates' tea continued much below production costs throughout the year. The crop harvested amounted to 1,167,065 lbs., an increase of just under 200,000 lbs. compared with the restricted crop of the previous year. In consequence of the drastic measures taken to curtail expenditure, costs of our manufactured teas were reduced by over forty-one per cent, compared with the previous year, and with the full effect of those economies now in operation, it is estimated that for the remainder of this year costs will be exactly half of the figure worked out eighteen months ago. Even so, costs together with the duty of 2d per lb. into English markets, are considerably above the present very low prices realised, and we shall, I regret to say, be faced this year with a further considerable loss. I am not, however, pessimistic as to the future for Dutch tea, in spite of the heavy preference accorded to Empire teas, but certainly no permanent relief from the present circumstances can be expected until the prevailing contraction in the field of consumption has been removed.

Mr. Obata, Ambassador to Germany, who is now home on furlough, having notified Count Uchida that he has no intention of returning to the post, the Foreign Minister has fixed upon Mr. Nagai, the former Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs, as his successor. Mr. Nagai is expected to leave for Berlin soon.

Woman Flogged To Death

TO DRIVE OUT BADGER SPIRIT

Tokyo.—Believed to be possessed by a badger's spirit, the wife of an Osaka merchant was stripped and beaten on Monday morning, the flogging being so severe that she died.

Her last words, her husband tells the police, were:—"I am a badger. I used to live in the Kyoto marches, and I entered the body of your wife when she last gave birth. As I am now dying, please forgive me."

The unfortunate woman's daughter, confirming her father's story, added, "My true mother died when I was born, and the badger took her place."

Husband, daughter and seven others, including apprentices employed at the husband's shop, took part in this brutal and fantastic murder in Nishi-ku. The merchant, Seizo Watanabe, recently failed in business, the last of a series of misfortunes which he attributed to the evil spirit of which his wife was possessed.

Getting up early on Monday, Watanabe told his wife that she had to be beaten until the badger left her body. She offered no opposition, but calmly consented to be tied up, and then the beating began.

It started with leather though,
the husband laying on the lash until he cut into his wife's clothes.
Then sticks were used, and when Watanabe became tired, the daughter, the apprentices and several friends joined in. Big lumps of wood were next used, as well as gates.

Finally the woman was stripped naked, and tied to a post, and the beating recommenced with iron bars. She was horribly marked by this second beating, which was so severe that it soon became obvious she was dying. At this stage a doctor was sent for, but before he arrived the woman was dead.

In his report to the police the doctor says that he found the woman lying stretched out on a mat. She was a mass of weals and bruises from head to foot, and covered with blood.

It couldn't be helped," the woman's daughter told him. "My father is an earnest believer in the Taishaku Divinity, and this was the only way in which he could exorcise the devil in my mother's body."

The victim was 42 years old—mirrors. Dainty little Sidney Fox is delightful as the innocent Southern girl, and Lewis Stone's attentions as an actor have never been better demonstrated than in his role of the dignified judge who becomes pleasantly "jinged" each evening. Other who contribute able characterizations to the picture are William Rickard, George Meeker, Sidney Toler and Joseph W. Girard.

All the actions of "Strictly Dishonorable" takes place in a New York apartment and the apartment above it, and the picture follows the adventures of a Southern girl and an Italian opera singer whose intentions, as he admits to her, are "strictly dishonorable." And as they arrive in his apartment he proceeds to demonstrate the truth of his statement!

"A HONEYMOON ADVENTURE"

BRITISH THRILLER AT THE QUEEN'S

"A Honeymoon Adventure," a Radio Picture, with Benita Hume and Harold Huth drew large crowds to the Queen's Theatre yesterday. It is an adventure thriller on the good old lines of the valuable invention, the papers concerning which a gang of crooks try to steal for a foreign government, but it is worked out with a commendable freshness.

Bonita Hume plays extremely well her part of the hot-over-intelligent Scottish girl. She is gauche and unsure of herself as a normal girl would be under such circumstances, and yet manages to deliver and, incidentally, protect the goods.

The train sequences, for much of the action takes place on the Flying Scotsman—are particularly well done to the accompaniment of most train noises.

Although his name comes third on the list of featured players it is Peter Horne to whom, I think, the acting honours should go. He is always convincing and very human. Harold Huth on the other hand, as the villain, is rather too villainous to be true. A clever little character sketch is given by F. Ross Campbell and "Janet" the faithful servant of the Scottish Castle.

There is, of course, always the appeal of English scenes and English voices for British people, but I believe, that even if these mean nothing to you you will enjoy "A Honeymoon Adventure" for that it is an exciting and well told yarn.

AT THE CENTRAL THEATRE

"STRICTLY DISHONORABLE"

One of the most delightful motion picture to reach the local screen in many a day is "Strictly Dishonorable," Universal's sophisticated comedy which opened at the Central Theatre yesterday.

In the subtle piquancy of its story, the brilliance of its dialogue, and the acting of its players, even down to the smallest role, this screen play is a positive gem. And it is not only a gem, but there is not an "extra" in the picture. The cast is not large, and every role is an "acting" part. Paul Lukas is quite in character as the continental lover and delivers a performance bound to increase his rapidly growing circle of fans. He is not only a "picture" actor, but a "stage" actor.

"YOUNG AMERICA"

Art Simpson (Tommy Conlon) has the reputation of being the "worst boy in town." While he is up before the sympathetic Juvenile Judge Blake (Ralph Belamy), he attracts the attention of Mrs. Doray (Doris Kenyon), wife of the town's leading druggist.

Art rescues Mrs. Doray's dog from being hurt by a truck and earns her gratitude, although her husband (Spencer Tracy) dislikes the boy and shows it. On the way to school a bully picks on Art's pal, Nutty Beamish (Raymond Borzage), and as a result of the ensuing fight, Art is suspended from school. His widowed aunt (Sarah Padden), with whom he is living, is furious over the disgrace, and Art takes refuge with Nutty's kindly grandmother (Beryl Mercer), Nutty also being an orphan.

That night Mrs. Beamish becomes ill and the two boys set out to get medicine. All the drug stores are closed, and they finally force a window in the Doray store and secure a bottle of her remedy, leaving the money which, however, gets lost. The policeman on the beat, Officer Weems (Robert Homans), sees the boys and captures Art, though Nutty gets away.

Art comes again before Judge Blake, but refuses to explain what he was doing in the store. Nutty tries to save him with a wildly imaginative story, but fails, and it looks bad for the boys until Mrs. Beamish enters and testifies. The judge parades Nutty in his grandmother's care, but Art's aunt refuses to have anything more to do with him and there seems no choice but to go to a reform school.

At this juncture Mrs. Doray offers to be responsible for Art, much to the amazement of her husband who had hoped to have the boy sent to jail for his "theft." Against Doray's wishes, Art is installed in his home and reinstated in school, but by order of the judge, is not allowed to speak to Nutty any more.

One evening in the absence of the Dorays, Mrs. Beamish comes to tell Art that Nutty is very ill and wants to see him. She had no money for a doctor and Art, in desperation, gives her Mrs. Doray's household money and dashes off to see his friend.

Nutty dies just as Mrs. Beamish and the doctor arrive, and Art only returns to the Doray home—only to "overhear" Doray (Beryl Mercer) telling her husband (Spencer Tracy) that Art is a "good boy" and will not be sent to the reform school.

trouble, Art pretends to be very defiant and talks out.

The next morning the Dorays learn of Nutty's death, and suddenly realize their mistake and Art's sacrifice. Doray tries to find the boy, but Mrs. Beamish hides him. Art starts to leave town that night, but in passing Doray's store sees a pair of burglars holding up the druggist. The crooks force the frightened boy to go with them, and make him drive as Doray and Officer Weems chase them.

To keep the men from shooting their pursuers, Art swerves the car into an embankment and wrecks it. Doray and Weems capture the crooks, and Doray decides the least he can do to make amends, is to adopt the boy.

The story is well told and the acting, especially by the younger members of the cast is above the average. This picture can be strongly recommended and should not be missed.

scene of the evening as far as most of the audience was concerned, but shortly afterwards behind the curtain on the stage were enacted further little happy ceremonies when Sir William Shenton, President of the Society, made congratulatory speeches and happy reference to the excellent work done by the producer, his cast, and helpers: cheers and songs rang out from the King's Theatre as never before. These scenes nevertheless did not end the revels for, following time honoured custom of the Hong Kong Philharmonic Society, one and all in happy mood later went on to a dance held in the Grill Room of the King's Restaurant, and continued to make merry until the early hours of Sunday morning.

"TROUBLE IN PARADISE"

LUBITSCH FILM BOOKED FOR KING'S THEATRE

More than twice as much time is spent in the preparation of an Ernst Lubitsch picture than in actually filming it.

Lubitsch, whose latest production, "Trouble in Paradise," comes to the King's Theatre on Wednesday, with a cast headed by Miriam Hopkins, Ray Francis, Herbert Marshall, Charlie Ruggles and Edward Everett Horton, is one of the most painstaking of Hollywood directors. Though the principal charm of his pictures lies in their apparent spontaneity, they're worked out far in advance, and all that appears spontaneous has been mulled over time and again until Lubitsch is sure it's absolutely perfect, according to his way of thinking.

In preparation for "Trouble in Paradise," for example, he worked daily for three months with Samson Raphaelson and Grover Jones, who wrote the scenario from a play by Laszlo Aladar, Viennese playwright. Not only plot, but dialogue and the deft, whimsical touches that trademark a picture as Lubitsch-made, were worked out at this time.

By the time he starts drilling his players in their roles, Lubitsch knows the script from beginning to end. He is as well acquainted with the mood of each sequence as with its lines and bits of action.

"Trouble in Paradise," in which he is said to have employed a new technique for films, is the story of a pair of suave super-crooks who prey upon European society. The roles are played by Marshall and Miss Hopkins. Ultimately they single out Miss Francis, a wealthy widow, as a prospective victim, and start working on her. But an amusing climax results when Marshall develops more than professional interest in the victim.

COURT-MARTIAL ON RUGBY

PLAYER

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Jan. 5.

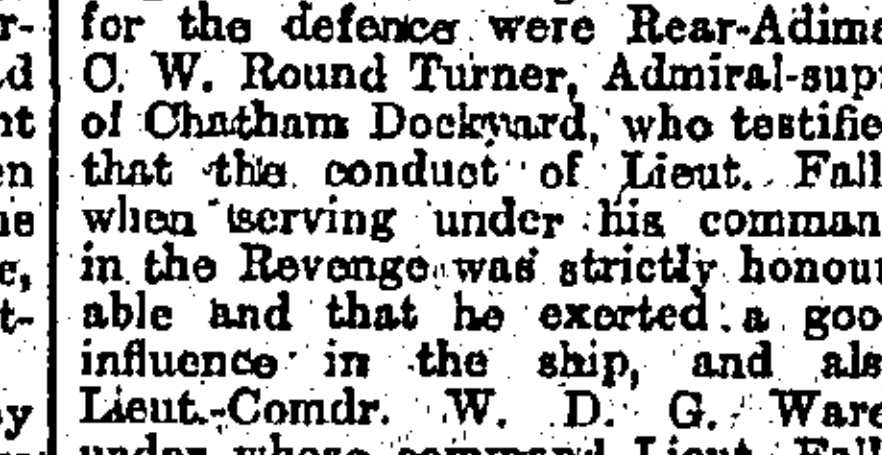

Sub-Lt. Guy C. Falls, of H.M.S. Renown, pleaded not guilty at a court-martial at Chatham on December 23 to charges of forgery and fraudulent conversion. Accused plays Rugby for the Navy and is an International Trials player. He is also a well-known service boxer. Amongst other charges it is alleged that, while acting in the capacity of officer in the employment of the gunroom mess of H.M.S. Renown, he altered an entry in the gunroom mess account book with intent to defraud. Evidence regarding the allegation of forgery was given by Comdr. E. W. Whittington-Ince. Among the witnesses for the defence were Rear-Admiral C. W. Round Turner, Admiral-superintendent of Chatham Dockyard, who testified that the conduct of Lieut. Falls when serving under his command in the Revenge was strictly honourable and that he exerted a good influence in the ship, and also Lieut.-Comdr. W. D. G. Ware, under whose command Lieut. Falls served in H.M.S. Vexor, said that Lieut. Falls was quite outstanding as a midshipman and was strictly honourable. He was found guilty of intent to defraud and ordered to be dismissed from His Majesty's service.

TRAINING NOTES AND TIMES.

NO OUTSTANDING GALLOP ON SATURDAY: PRIMA
DONNA COVERS FULL DERBY DISTANCE

TRENTBRIDGE SENT OUT FOR TWO MILE CANTER

(BY "MORNING DEW").

The feature of Saturday's gallops was the restrained manner in which trainers handled their mounts. There was no fast work of any kind and most of the favourites for the Derby were on the slow side. Trentbridge was sent over two miles, but his effort could hardly be described as a gallop. The pony cantered over the first mile and a quarter and then galloped slowly, finishing very impressively. He is at the moment, a strong favourite for the Derby.

Prima Donna, Mr. A. M. L. Soares' candidate was sent over the mile and a half. The less said about the effort the better. Except for the finish which was very good and revealed the class of the pony, there was nothing to see as the earlier part of the journey was so slow.

Tenorio, was taken over a mile and a quarter by Mr. Frost and he shifted quite well. This pony has a good burst of speed and it left in the charge of Mr. Frost, should be very good by the Annual Meeting.

King's Command and King's Company, two of Mr. Pearce's Derby ponies were also sent over slow work and the last three quarters of their gallop is given below.

Mignonette and Mayflower, two griffins of this year's gallop fairly late on Saturday morning. Both were on the slow side, but finished very well. The Australian ponies were also very slow. Sunup was sent over a mile and a half and those interested can see his times below.

Quite a number of ponies were galloped yesterday, including Mr. Dunbar's Derby Griffin, Coo Coo Bay. The pony went over the mile and half in 3.49, finishing in 29.4. This is the best gallop of the week-end.

Baron Bay and Tillicum did a mile and quarter in 3.05.2 finishing in 31.2 seconds.

The times clocked on Saturday were as follows:—

TRAINING THE MUI-TSAI

WORK OF THE SALVATION ARMY IN HONG KONG

A VISIT TO THE HOME IN KOWLOON CITY

Adjutant Colin K. Begley, the special representative of the Salvation Army, Peiping, arrived in Hong Kong on Saturday by the s.s. Yusukani Maru from North China. Adjutant Begley's visit is in connection with the annual drive for collections and donations to the Salvation Army Industrial Home for Girls, at Kowloon City. The Adjutant informed us that he will be very pleased to receive any local assistance, and that donations should be forwarded to the Home in Prince Edward Road.

Our representative visited the Home at Kowloon City which has been in existence now for nearly three years. The Home occupies the buildings and grounds of the old Kowloon Dairy, better known as Ahwee's Dairy.

Considerable change has taken place, and on entering the grounds, one cannot but notice the cleanliness and tidy state of the property. Little garden plots are placed here and there, and a well-kept lawn borders the verandah of the Home. Once inside the impression of cleanliness remains. The furniture although scanty is well cared for and the polished floors and clean tapestries remind one of a well kept home rather than a "detention home" as the Institute is often called.

Our representative was cordially received by Adjutant Miss Watts and Adjutant Mrs. Brister, who very kindly offered to full information about their work.

During the past three years the Home has cared for over 100 girls. The Institute is conducted on similar lines to the Chinese Po Leung Kuk, but far from being "detained" the girls are free to leave whenever they wish. The Home was originally planned as an Institute for prostitutes, but met with very little success as the invitation to come to a Home made no appeal to these girls. However, the few that have passed through the hands of the Army Home left with every hope of a decent and happy life before them.

The Institute has concentrated on orphan girls and destitutes forwarded to them by the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs, including many mui-tsai.

A Dissatisfied Girl.

Consequently the officers in charge of the Institute have a very intimate knowledge of the characteristics of these unfortunate girls. Contrary to the general belief these girls are not as badly off as it would seem. There are outstanding instances of cruelty and ill-treatment but in most cases the girls were found to be merely dissatisfied with the mistresses. The work of teaching and "teaming" these girls, called for extreme patience. "It takes us all our time and Christian patience to win over these girls," said Miss Watts, "and we are not surprised that these girls are often given the whipping related in Court. It is not an uncommon thing for a stubborn girl to lie on the floor and to kick and scream for hours on end for no reason whatever." Only by constant perseverance, Christian teaching and patience are these girls finally brought to a reasonable frame of mind.

However, the girls gradually realise the happiness and comfort which is theirs at the Home and within a year they generally become well behaved.

Ill-Treatment.

Miss Watts remarked that she found very few signs of ill-treatment.

LAUREL AND HARDY

SPENT A YEAR SEEKING NEW GAGS

"PACK UP YOUR TROUBLES" BOOKED FOR QUEEN'S

"Pack Up your Troubles" the latest Laurel and Hardy feature-length comedy, which comes to the Queen's Theatre on Wednesday marks the third full-length attraction starring the popular laugh team.

More than a year ago they were started in "Pardon Us." Since that time they have been diligently searching for a new idea for their second feature. How well they have succeeded in bringing to the screen one of the most humorous offerings of the season will be revealed when "Pack Up Your Troubles" is shown at the Queen's Theatre.

The title will undoubtedly bring to the minds of many people the refrain of one of the popular songs sung during the World War. "Pack ment on the girl who were sent to her. In one case the girl had an assortment of clothes far better than any others at the Home and in another case, in addition to her comprehensive wardrobe, an arrival had $15 of her own money to spend! The reputation of the Home was gradually becoming known to these girls and in one instance a mui-tsai on hearing of another's happy life at the Institute packed up her bundle of clothes, left her mistress and waited on the threshold of the S.C.A. office begging to be recommended to the Home.

Preferred Prisoner

The girls soon realise their good fortune and of this an instance is given in the history of a girl who is still with the Home to-day. A year ago she was convicted of stealing from her grandmother, and when offered the choice of the Home or prison, promptly chose the latter. With a mind to cure her of her disillusions the Magistrate ordered her a week of prison life. At the next hearing she meekly agreed to go to the Home and now, "we have only to threaten her, if she is naughty, to send her back to her grandmother," said Miss Watts.

Clever Housekeeper.

During the time the girls are with the Institute they are given a training in proper housekeeping, sewing, and fancy needle work, so that without exception the girls leave the Home as qualified housekeepers. In between lessons they are given two hours a day of reading and writing as in most cases the girls are illiterate.

Adjutant Mrs. Brister, who comes from Australia, has taught needle work and the girls are now experts at sewing, embroidery, and fancy needle work. The standard of their work may be judged from the many orders which the Institute has received from England and locally. The maintenance of the Home depends largely on the revenue received from their needle work and Miss Watts will be glad to receive any orders that may be required locally or in outposts.

Several specimens of their clever needle and sewing work were shown to our representative including bed spreads, table-cloths, ladies' overalls, and cushions. This seemed remarkable for girls who, on entering the Institute, could not even thread a needle.

The Institute has sent girls to various positions in reply to applications. Many have become servants and amahs in Chinese families and in one or two cases to European families. Quite recently one of their girls became assistant to a nurse.

The Salvation Army in China.

The work of the Salvation Army is perhaps better known in the North of China than in the south. The great floods in the North of China in 1917 saw the introduction of the Salvation Army into Chinese territory. Since that date they have carried on with success in their good work towards the poor and to-day they have over twenty permanent centers of activity in China.

The Salvation Army have now a large training Institute in Peiping where students are given free education and training in evangelism and emerge as trained members of the Corps.

up your troubles in your old kit bag and smile, smile, smile. Laurel and Hardy have tried to carry out the meaning of the song, though the story has no connection with the melody.

A flash of the humour of the World War, is said to furnish one of the many hilarious moments in the comedy. The team, as a couple of might doughboys, wander aimlessly through fire and shell and come back with many prize packages of humour.

Prominent members of the supporting cast include Mary Carr, Donald Dillaway, Jacques Lyn, the three-year-old "Our Gang" member, Muriel Evans and Grady Sutton.

A tribute to scientific research is paid by President Hoover, himself a highly trained engineer. In the foreword of the January Scientific Monthly he says that "a spiritual value accrues to all this labour, for science requires a degree of unselfishness and devotion which calls out the finest qualities of the human spirit, and, since its goal is truth, the noblest aspirations of mankind."

MUI TSAI OR DAUGHTER

CHINESE WOMAN FINED $250

COUNSEL ON DIS-SATISFACTION OF MUI-TSAIS

"What is the difference between a mui-tsai and an adopted daughter?" This question was put to the husband of a Chinese woman who was charged at the Kowloon Magistracy on Friday with failing to register her mui-tsai and with ill-treating her.

The history of the case follows the common complaint of severe ill-treatment imposed on these unfortunate children, who are virtual slaves. The girl, age 15, had been sold by her mother in her native village and brought to Hong Kong where she was made to do most of the house work and look after the four children of her mistress. She complained that she was severely beaten with a cane feather-duster for quite trivial mistakes and, a few days before Christmas, she was deliberately branded with a pair of hot tongs because she accidentally broke a bowl of rice.

The mistress in evidence denied the allegations of cruelty and maintained that the marks on the girl's arms were caused when the latter slipped and fell on the tongs. The defendant asserted that the girl was not a mui-tsai but in fact, an adopted daughter. This evidence was corroborated by the husband who had lived in the United States for a considerable time and another Chinese-American friend. Questioning the husband of the defendant Mr. H. R. Butters, the Magistrate asked, "What is the difference between a mui-tsai and an adopted daughter?" The husband replied that to him there was no difference at all.

Dis-satisfaction.

Mr. Leo D'Almada, Senior, in his submission to the Magistrate on behalf of the defendant maintained that the girl's evidence was uncorroborated against the evidence given by the defendant's husband and friend who were in the house at the time when the alleged burning incident took place. Leaving aside the medical evidence his Worship would have to rely solely on what the girl had related.

Mr. D'Almada cited the girl's case as being very similar to all other mui-tsai in that it all arose from the girl being dissatisfied. It was the general case with girls of this type, who, on arriving at the age of 18 began to feel dissatisfied and sought by all means possible freedom. In this case the girl was trying to escape so that she might have her full freedom to do what she liked.

As regards the ill-treatment alleged Mr. D'Almada referred to the medical evidence which stated that the girl was well nourished.

Mr. D'Almada also referred to the fact that the girl had not made known her alleged ill-treatment to her cousins who lived close by. Furthermore, the girl had admitted that the very case which was used to beat her was also used on the children when they misbehaved. Inspector Fraser had also stated that in his opinion such a chastisement would have not constituted cruelty.

As regards the status of the girl, Mr. D'Almada asserted that she was an adopted daughter and not a mui-tsai. The girl had been taken over by the defendant on being asked to do so by the mother who was poor. The girl was to be returned when the mother could support her and until then the defendant offered to look after her. The defendant was now determined to ask the mother to take back her child.

The Decision.

Mr. Butters in dealing with the first summons remarked that he held the girl was a mui-tsai and not an adopted daughter. He could not accept the story and regarded as impossible. In the circumstances he would register a conviction and imposed a fine of $100.

Not Deliberate.

Referring to the second count, the Magistrate remarked that he did not think that the defendant had deliberately tried to brand the girl. She was angry with her for knocking over the bowl of rice and nipped the girl's arm with the tongs, not knowing that they were as hot as it happened.

It had been proved however, that although the girl was well nourished, she had been somewhat harshly treated, and for this reason he would convict also on this charge and impose a fine of $150.

RUGGER

NAVY BEATS THE ARMY

After a long and close tussle the Navy beat the Army in Saturday's Rugger match played at Sookanpo. A draw, without any score, a most unusual thing in rugger seemed to be the prospect, when in the last minutes of the game Mid-Barnes took a neat pass from Lieut. Ryder and cut through to score between the posts. Lieut. Buckley added the points.

The Navy deserved to win, the Devonshire contingent being in great form, while Lynton led the forwards with his usual dash. Ryder, Rothwell and Woods were the best of the backs and forward Smith, Escott, Doggett and Fisher supported their leader well.

The Army were without Hamilton at three-quarter, and the backs were dropping a good many passes. Martin and Lewis were well marked and had few opportunities. The side was not at its best and the game was by no means the best of the series.

As a result of this game the Club wins the Triangular Tournament.

HONG KONG TRADE IN 1932

THE Statistics Office of the Imports and Exports Department serves a useful purpose. It stops the mouths of those cheerful pessimists who declare that the Colony has lost half its trade, since the Depression, and at the present rate we shall, in the words of the Imperial poet, soon be "one with Nineveh and Tyre." Once a month this admirable little department puts a stopper on those valuable opinions emanating from the com-pradore's fork and the taipan's confidential typist, and once a year it reviews the whole position. We know the worst. In terms of local currency the Colony's trade, during 1932, fell fourteen per cent., the decrease in volume being about ten per cent. There is, however, no need to fear that in the course of a decade Hong Kong will have suffered the fate of the nigger boys of the nursery rhyme. The two biggest factors in the reductions are the Sino-Japanese clash and the fall in world prices. The seemingly unending crisis in the North of China will either be adjusted, or else, if the two countries settle down to a permanent enjoyment of their mutual hate, other nations will pick up part at least of what Japan has lost. As long as any day may see an ending of this conflict, merchants having business relations with Japan will continue to trade with her. The fall in world prices, however, is a more serious matter. It is a reminder that for Hong Kong, the condition of South China is the dominant factor. China is the main source of raw materials and the main market for Hong Kong's manufactures. The fall in world prices is a reminder that for Hong Kong, the condition of South China is the dominant factor. LOOKING BACK 75 YEARS

There are advices from Manila per Rajah to the 9 inst. Exchange on Hong Kong was 18 per cent, on Amoy 28 per cent, and on England 4 1/4 per cent. Bills very scarce. Mexican dollars, 14 a 15 per cent. Hemp had declined to the extremely low figure of $5 a 5.05. Rice was looking up, unfavourable weather having caused damage to the rice crops. Some Swatow sugar which had been imported (!) was under shipment to Shanghai. Ships were getting scarce and several would find good employment. The Lotus was loading for Shanghai at 75 cents, Manila currency.—Hong Kong Daily Press, Jan. 23, 1933.

LOOKING BACK 50 YEARS

It is matter for sincere regret to those who take an interest in the ancient Colony of Macao that the long projected harbour improvements there are so systematically deferred. Dr. Costa Real, the energetic Colonial Secretary, has, it appears, succeeded in awakening a languid interest in Lisbon in the distant dependency of the Portuguese Crown, but no apparent effort is being made to commence any of the improvements needed to render Macao accessible to shipping, to develop any industries there, or to promote commercial enterprise.—Hong Kong Daily Press, Jan. 23, 1933.

Looking Back 25 Years.

His Excellency the Governor and Lady Lugard presided at the annual distribution of prizes of the Ellis Kadourie Hong Kong College held yesterday morning. There were seated with the Governor and Lady Lugard on the platform Mr. A. J. Brackbury, private secretary, Mr. Ellis Kadourie, Mr. E. D. O. Wolfe, Inspector of Schools, and Mr. Lau Chu Pak, while the body of the room in which the distribution took place was well filled with visitors including many ladies.—Hong Kong Daily Press, Jan. 23, 1933.

and particularly to sell to China. But can China buy? What has she to offer that the world, despite all difficulties, still wants? South China, like every other part of the world is bitten with the idea of being self-supporting. Her leaders dream of industries and mines supplying every need, but the fulfilment is far to seek. For decades to come such a process can only be pursued by co-operation with the world, by grand scale purchases of machinery, by the stimulating of a popular desire for Western products. To achieve that end South China will have to concentrate upon such exports as have always found a market. If China can obtain peace and security her incomparable farmers and artisans will produce that superabundance over and above their own wants which is the whole source of trade. Hong Kong cannot escape the economic depression, for all nations are reducing their purchases, from China as from other producers, but for Hong Kong the key to the position in the up-country trade and conditions in the Liang Kwang and other parts of the world is the door.

Gift Horses.

It was when bicycles first became popular that a mother, buying one for her daughter, took the salesman into her confidence: "Perhaps I had better explain that I don't know a great deal about bicycles but there is one thing upon which I must insist. The machine must have punctured tyres."

We have travelled far in knowledge and experience since then. The bikes live in mechanical numbers, and a small son of the house asked his father to give him "a wireless-haired terrier" for Christmas.

The Greatest of Inventors?

The two hundredth anniversary of Richard Arkwright, inventor of the cotton spinner, was recently observed. The huge Lancashire barber with his little spinning frame is now regarded as having been the father of the machine age. With him spinning and weaving went out of the home and into the factory, and the building of mill towns began. Back to him is traced the diverse mechanization of the whole of industry. Henry Ford is called his modern prototype. Gandhi is called his antithesis. So the world remembers Arkwright—It showers him with praise and with blame.

Scot-Free.

Touching Scotmen many English people this year invested, in an excellent aid to charity, the "Help Yourself" annual, run by the Stock Exchange Dramatic Society, by means of which nearly £250,000 has been distributed among hospitals and charities. Among the 2,000 traders' gifts some purchasers were fortunate enough to receive was a "dinner, including wines, for four persons, to be partaken of in the Royal Athenaeum restaurant." And where do you suppose that delectable restaurant is? In Union-street, Aberdeen.

Another offer from the same hospitable region is "A glass of beer with Mr. William Christie, vintner, Aberdeen, every lawful day during 1933, on calling at his premises, 25, Haddon-street, Aberdeen."

Germany's White House.

Remodeling of the presidential palace in Berlin is progressing, and meanwhile President von Hindenburg is living a few doors away in the home which Bismarck occupied when he was the first Chancellor of the German Empire. Originally it was planned to make a few repairs to the roof of the presidential mansion at 75 Wilhelmstrasse. But the building, constructed for Count Sacken in 1734, was found in need of considerable strengthening which finally led to the undertaking of extensive renovation. The structure, up to the end of the nineteenth century, was one of those aristocratic palaces around which much of the social life of the German capital revolved. At the time of the abdication of the monarchy it housed the Cabinet of the King of Prussia, who also was the Kaiser. It became the presidential palace when President Ebert took office in 1918.

A Small Syndicate.

Speculators who may have been stirred by the story of the discovery of a sovereign inside a sheep will be interested to learn that in Australia sheep's teeth sometimes acquire a coating of gold. Not so long ago a part-time worker in South Melbourne bought a sheep's head for 14d. After he had boiled it to make soup, he found that every tooth was covered with a yellow metal which, when the nitric acid test had been applied by a jeweller, proved to be gold.

Unfortunately, the place of the sheep's origin could not be traced, but a small syndicate is still busily engaged at Smithfield buying up imported sheep's heads on the off-chance of coming across some of the Melbourne sheep's relatives.

Well Met.

If, when at home, you want to meet a man from Hong Kong walk down the Strand. But life abounds with odd meetings.

"To-day I received from an East African settler a letter telling of a recent incident in the Belgian Congo," writes a correspondent. "Travelling in that region an Englishman turned the corner of a path in the Ituri Forest, a little way of some 400 by 500 miles, and met a Belgian Administrator. They dined together, and talk turned to the late War, when the Englishman remarked that he was sure that he had previously seen the Englishman during the War had seen the Englishman leading his regiment through the village where the Belgian lived. What must have been the chances of these two ever seeing, much less recognising, each other again?"

The Smallest Cotton Mill.

The smallest cotton mill in England and perhaps in the world, is at Nelson, near Manchester, in the very center of cottonopolis. It is owned and run by one man, Mr. Theophilus Watson, who, becoming unemployed two years ago, obtained the use of an empty workshop where he installed four old looms and other necessary machinery. Knowing there was a good market for towels he concentrated his labours on turning out Turkish designs of good quality and pleasing colour schemes. His average weekly turnover is now about 80 dozen towels.

By dint of hard work he has made his products known beyond the bounds of the home market, for which he specially caters, and he ships goods to Canada, while one of his latest inquiries is from Constantinople. Besides tending to his machines and soliciting orders, he also acts as his own accountant.

Well, Well!

"Well, my doctor said he'd put me on my feet."
"And has he done it?"
"Yes, I had to sell the car to pay his bill."

SIR ERIC GEDDES' AIR TRIP

SUCCESSFUL DEVELOPMENT OF AFRICAN ROUTE

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, Jan. 23.

Sir Eric Geddes, chairman of Imperial Airways Ltd., left London on a flying visit over the 5,000 miles London-Cape Town air route. In addition he will visit Rome to discuss with the Italian authorities questions arising out of the operation of international air services, and as there is no air service from London to Rome, he is travelling thither by train and joining the African air service at Brindisi.

Just before leaving London he said: "I am taking the opportunity of flying over our trans-African air-mail route. During my visit to the stations of this Empire air line, which stretches for just on 7,000 miles from London to Cape Town, I shall pay courtesy calls upon His Majesty's representatives at various points."

"We are now operating 12,000 miles of Empire airways and it is hoped that during this next year the through route to Australia may be in operation. Already our machines are flying approximately 5,000 miles a day and at almost every hour of the 24 somewhere along our far-flung route we have a mail-carrying machine in the air."

Outlook Encouraging. "Generally speaking, the outlook for air transport is now definitely encouraging, but we cannot expect any specific short-cuts to success. Air-mail flying is governed by the laws of economics. It must develop logically. It must go forward step by step establishing itself on a basis from which nothing can take it."

"British civil aviation is making admirable progress in difficult times. Our figures for air income in relation to subsidy show consistent improvement. Our rates are among the lowest in the world our air-liners carry bigger average loads and cover a bigger average mileage per machine than those of any other nation. The taxpayers of this country in their assistance of civil aviation are, in fact, obtaining better results than those of any other country in the sense that British commercial flying is now approaching more nearly than the air transport of any other nation the goal of independent State-free operation."

LITTLE INTEREST AT NANKING

COUNT UCHIDA'S SPEECH FALLS ON DEAF EARS

JAPAN'S ANSWER TO DRUMMOND FORMULA

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

NANKING, Jan. 22. THE Chinese capital has evinced little interest in Count Uchida's speech to the Japanese Diet.

The general opinion is that he said nothing new yesterday, but only reiterated Japan's well-known standpoint.

JAPAN SAYS "NO"

Tokyo, Jan. 21.

Disregarding the Committee of Nineteen's demand for a definite reply to Wednesday's proposal, the Government have called to the Japanese delegation at Geneva instructing them to accept Sir Eric Drummond's formula, with the omission of the invitation to non-member states.

The Foreign Office are hopeful that this alternative will be acceptable but intimates that if the Committee insists on the proposal of January 16, Japan's reply must be "No."

TENSE ATMOSPHERE AT GENEVA

Geneva, Jan. 21.

The meeting of the Committee of Nineteen commenced at 5.10 yesterday afternoon and lasted one hour and forty minutes. After further discussions of the Sino-Japanese issue, it was adjourned till 5 o'clock this afternoon.

As usual a tense atmosphere prevailed throughout the proceedings. The Committee proceeded first to clear-up the personal issue regarding Sir Eric Drummond, in consequence of the Japanese statement last night.

A personal explanation had been prepared by Sir Eric Drummond, for which he asked sanction to publish. The Committee did not devote much time to the discussion of this matter.

The reply from Tokyo concerning the League's offer made to Japan on January 18 was not available at the time of the meeting of the Committee of Nineteen, but the Japanese delegation submitted a statement on its own responsibility for the consideration of the Committee.

CHINA DISSATISFIED WITH LEAGUE

Geneva, Jan. 21.

Unless anticipations are once again falsified, the League is now embarking upon the controversial task of drafting a report under Paragraph Four, Article XV.

Two newcomers were present at yesterday's meetings of the Committee of Nineteen, namely Dr. Benes (Czechoslovakia) and Captain Antony Eden (Britain).

The Chinese delegation has issued a statement expressing dissatisfaction over the press reports of the Committee's inclination to accept the important modifications submitted by the Japanese of the draft resolution, of which they have not been officially informed, where as they are still without a reply to their amendments proposed on December 26 last year, which in the conversations with M. Hymans and Sir Eric Drummond they were given to understand were in conformity with the spirit of the Committee's draft text.

The Chinese statement insists that non-recognition and non-continuance of Manchukuo be explicitly included in the Report.

The Chinese statement also declares that no settlement of the conflict, permanent or generally acceptable, can be arrived at without the full collaboration of the United States and Soviet Russia. Any conciliation committee must be balanced by minor and major Powers and the sub-committee should not be limited to the mere exercise of good offices, as direct Sino-Japanese conversations cannot lead to a satisfactory conclusion.

LEAGUE SITUATION REVIEWED

The Committee of Nineteen will probably ask the Japanese delegation to give a definite agreement on three points, namely, will they accept the Lytton Report as a basis for the historical background of the dispute? Secondly, will they accept Chapter Nine as a basis of conciliation for the settlement of the dispute? Thirdly, will they accept the guidance of the Advisory Committee in the Resolution?

If the Committee obtains a favourable reply, the conciliation procedure will continue. It must be admitted that many members of the Committee are somewhat perplexed regarding the passing on to Paragraph Four, Article XV, of the League Covenant. They want to know where the framing of the Report will lead, what will be the responsibilities of the League and how it will react upon the situation in the Far East, because of the uncertainty and the strong feeling against venturing on unknown

TENSE SITUATION IN BERLIN

NAZIS AND COMMUNISTS CLASH

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

BERLIN, Jan. 22. There is great nervousness in view of the huge Nazi rally this afternoon in Buelow Square.

Several minor collisions between Nazis and Communists have already occurred.

Uniformed Nazi storm-troops from Berlin and groups of workers commenced to march to the square where a large force of foot and mounted police, armed with rifles and armoured cars, are assembled. The police at 11.30 a.m. raided a house in Karlshagen, the headquarters of the Berlin Communists and ejected four hundred persons.

THRILLING RESCUE AT SEA

SPLENDID WORK BY AMERICAN SEAMEN

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. A THRILLING rescue of 22 British seamen from the sinking freighter, Exeter City, took place in the heart of a howling gale in mid-Atlantic, today.

The work was carried out by the United States line steamer, American Merchant, which had been standing by for 12 hours.

The Exeter City was 600 miles off Cape Race when she got into difficulties. Badly battered by mountainous seas and slowly foundering, she had lost her skipper and three members of the crew overboard before the arrival of the American liner.

No attempt to take off the remainder of the crew could be made immediately on account of the terrific seas, and the American ship stood helplessly by for 12 hours, while the distressed vessel was gradually being pounded to pieces.

When it was seen that she was in imminent danger of sinking, it was decided to throw a line aboard her from the American Merchant and if possible tow a lifeboat across.

In spite of the terrific seas, which threatened every moment to swamp the frail craft, the feat was successfully accomplished, and only just in time. The Exeter City sank shortly afterwards.

OUR LONDON AIR-MAIL LETTER

London-India Telephone Available Shortly. By Electricity to Brighton. Rudyard Kipling's Birthday. Robot Booking Clerks. Sir Philip Sassoon. Savoyard's Final Farewell. Famous Band Conductor Paid in Kind.

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, Jan. 21. India will be on the London telephone early in the New Year. There have already been highly successful conversations at various times of the day and night and the completion of a few details is all that stands in the way of opening the service to the public. The complicated apparatus sent to India some time ago is working excellently. Bombay has been selected as the terminal station, but before very long the through line will go far beyond. The opening of this service to India will complete the network linking the great Dominions of the Empire and Britain, for Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Canada are already benefiting from the marvellous combination of land-line and radio. When the Great War ended this country was in telephonic touch with only two countries—France and Belgium. Now, at Carter Lane, E.C., there is a telephone exchange which enables the telephone subscriber in this country to speak to 95 per cent of the telephone subscribers of the world. During the Christmas holidays people in distant parts of the world who had neglected to send Christmas cards put in last-moment telephone calls.

By Electricity to Brighton. The Lord Mayor of London opened the completion of the first electrification of a main line on December 31, when he and the company's guests travelled from Victoria by one of the brand new "Southern Belles" to Brighton. This great work has occupied about two years and has cost about two and three-quarter millions. A specimen of the new trains is on view at present at Victoria, and for the price of a penny anyone can examine its interesting features and sit on the luxury of the Pullman coaches, which mark a great advance in comfortable railway travelling. The new train does the journey in an hour, and there will be more express trains than before. The Brighton service is the first spectacular application of the national "grid" to transport purposes. The power is drawn from the grid by way of three elaborate 132,000 volt switching stations at Croydon, Three Bridges and Brighton. The special requirements made necessary by a new design of these stations and their equipments, which are an advance on previous practice and of great interest to electrical experts. No other electric railway in the world has behind it the whole resources of a national electricity scheme.

Rudyard Kipling's Birthday. On December 30, just 7 years ago Rudyard Kipling was born in Bombay. When he was born his father, John Kipling, was a British official, and his mother, Louisa, was a Hindu. He was the youngest of four children, and his father was a member of the Raj.

Savoyard's Final Farewell. Sir Henry Lytton's extended farewell to D'Oyly Carte opera will come to an end soon at the Savoy in London. During the next three weeks the whole repertoire of Gilbert and Sullivan operas is to be given and on January 21, Sir Henry will make his final bow.

Famous Band Conductor Paid in Kind. After playing with his band for two weeks in Budapest, this terminating his three months' Continental tour, Mr. Jack Hylton was informed on December 29, that he would not be permitted to take out of Hungary the money he had received from the Budapest public. Efforts are being made by the Hungarian Government to solve the difficulty, through the State Banking Department, either by a currency exchange or by making Mr. Hylton's payment in kind—possibly in jewels or other valuable property.

OBITUARY

MR. GEORGE MOORE

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

LONDON, Jan. 21. THE death has occurred of Mr. George Moore, the novelist. The works of the late Mr. George Moore were regarded with rapturous enthusiasm by literary connoisseurs but to the general public they made no appeal at all. Mr. Moore, with a nice grasp of the situation, published his books in limited and extremely expensive editions, which his circle of admirers, and the book collectors, bought with avidity. A man of mediocre talent Moore is an example of Carlyle's tag about an "infinite capacity for taking pains." Having private means he cultivated his literary power by intense application. No man polished more persistently, and in the end industry brought its reward. Mr. George Moore was duly hailed, in inner circles, as a great artist in words. He wrote a number of personal reminiscences, highly spiced, and quite pitiless towards many friends and fellow artists, in Paris, and in Dublin. In these he figured as something of a Casanova. His enemies replied by suggesting that he was a very harmless fellow and a number of anecdotes portraying him in ridiculous guise became current in literary circles. As an art critic George Moore did much to secure recognition, in France and in England, of the French school of impressionists. An authority on Monet he possessed a number of that painter's works. His room, in Ebury Street, a rather dreary thoroughfare, near Victoria Station, was a museum of objects d'art, and a place of pilgrimage, but in later years he was a lonely figure, considering his position in the cultured world.

George Moore's books are slow and tedious to the ordinary reader. "The Lake," a gem of technique, steeped with the sad beauty of Irish scenery, and the story of a young priest's ordeal has a slow movement, in comparison with the static quality of, say, Aphrodite in Aulis, his last published work. George Moore was born a Roman Catholic but became nominally a Protestant, and actually a classical pagan. His books reflect this conversion. A leisurely age will rediscovers him, but George Moore is unlikely to be more than a vague name except to those whose lives are devoted to the classical traditions of art and letters. R.B.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE]

RUGBY, Jan. 21. THE Washington announcement of the willingness of the incoming administration, when it takes over early in March, to confer with British representatives on War Debts and to discuss world economic problems in which the two countries are mutually interested is generally welcomed in Britain.

The British Government has made no move in the matter since they paid to America, when the debt instalment came due on December 15, a sum of £300,000,000 in gold. It then required £20,000,000 to discharge this gold obligation of £18,633,976.

The American move is in effect a sequel to the request contained in the British Note of November 10, for a review of the "Regime of inter-Governmental obligations."

Beyond a general expression of satisfaction at the prospect of progress promised by the Washington announcement, no official comment is as yet available in London.

"Times" Comment.

In the Press, the Times welcomes the consultation, and co-operation is foreshadowed and emphasises the need for a clear understanding of the realities of situation. It says: "One of those realities is that anxious as Great Britain has been, and is to fulfil all her obligations, America has to accept goods and services by which alone payment is possible. Unless America is prepared to recast her whole economic policy so as to enable her debtors to pay what they owe the only alternatives are a settlement on the Lausanne model or a frank cessation of payments."

The second reality is that since the next payment is due on June 15, and since these War Debt obligations so long as they are maintained, constitute in themselves an insuperable barrier to economic recovery, it is a matter of urgency they should be out of the way before the World Conference meets, and that it would be a grave mistake to make a solution of this problem dependent on prior or simultaneous solution of any of the many complicated questions with which the conference will have to deal.

"All to the Good."

The News Chronicle says the announcement "represents a very great advance on any former position taken up by America."

The Daily Telegraph says it is all to the good that the War Debts question has been salvaged from the back water into which it had drifted out of the main stream of events, but it thinks for the moment what is most needed is an authoritative interpretation of the exact bearings of the American announcement.

Action Agreed Upon.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

LONDON, Jan. 20. An early war debt discussion between the United States and Great Britain has been agreed upon by President Herbert Hoover and Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt, President-elect.

Mr. Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of State, has been instructed to initiate negotiations with Great Britain without delay and to arrange for a Conference with British representatives early in March. The discussions will not, however, take place until after the new President takes office on March 4.

A statement issued from the White House adds that the Conference will also include discussions on economic problems, and "ways and means of improving the world situation."

Mutual Interest.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE]

RUGBY, Jan. 20. A communique issued at the White House, Washington, yesterday afternoon, states that the Conference yesterday morning between President Hoover and the President-elect, Mr. Roosevelt, was devoted mainly to a canvass of the foreign situation. The following statement was agreed upon:

"The British Government has asked for a discussion on her war debt. The incoming administration will be glad to receive their representatives early in March for this purpose."

"It is, of course, necessary to discuss at the same time, the world's economic problems, in which the United States and Britain are mutually interested, and therefore representatives should also be sent to discuss ways and means of improving the world situation."

It was settled that these arrangements will be taken up by the Secretary of State, Mr. Henry Stimson, with the British Government.

SOME FORECASTS

A glance at the draw excites interest. In the first quarter are grouped three members of last year's Interport team, viz., Tsui Wai Pui, S. A. Rumjahn and H. D. Rumjahn, of whom the two first-mentioned took part in Singles. The two cousins, who should experience little difficulty in surviving the initial round, meet in the second round, when a fine match should result, and although probably S.A. will be successful, I feel confident H.D. will extend the holder to the third set. Y. Hachiuma, the only Japanese entered, bids fair to enter the third round to meet S.A. for the right to qualify for a place among the last eight. Tsui Wai Pui appears safe enough to join the last eight, his only serious obstacles on his way there apparently being W. C. Hung.

E. C. Fincher, runner-up for the last 3 years, is comfortably placed for a position in the quarter-finals in the second quarter, but some opposition will, in all probability, be offered by Owen Hughes and I. M. A. Razack and Ng Kam Chuen. In the same quarter also are Ho Ka Lau, J. W. Leonard, and Denis H. Hazell, one of whom is expected to meet Fincher. Of these I fancy Ho Ka Lau.

Many interesting ties are expected in the third quarter. In the first round Goldman meets S. A. Gray. The latter has improved by leaps and bounds since the last tournament. He has acquired several seeping strokes, which, when developed, will make him a dangerous opponent. Luk Diag Cheung, Yew Man Kit (ex-interpreter) and Tam Yoo Fong, a newcomer from Hanoi, are all grouped with Goldman in the quarter final. M. W. Lo is favourably placed to enter into that advanced stage, his strongest opponent being S. E. Green.

In the last quarter, Comdr. H. A. Packer, who is acknowledged to be one of the strongest aspirants for the Singles title, stands above all others for the 4th round, his chief opponent being either In Tak Cheuk or Chiu Chun Chiu, who meet in the first round. J. A. Cassumbhoy, Lai Kwong Tsun and Ng Sze Kwong are grouped together for the right to meet Packer.

My forecasts for the last eight places are as follows:—Tsui Wai Pui, S. A. Rumjahn, E. C. Fincher, Ho Ka Lau, L. Goldman, M. W. Lo, R. H. Kwok and Ng Sze Kwong.

INTERPORT TRIAL v. COM-BINED CHINESE

Probably due to the fact that they fielded a much weaker side than at first anticipated, the Combined Chinese were beaten by the Interport Trial team on the Club ground on Saturday by four goals to one. The Chinese were without the services of two of their best forwards, Fung King Cheong and Ip Pak Wa, as a result of which many golden opportunities were missed.

Play was not of a very high standard, the Trial team playing a better game, particularly the half backs, where Leung Wing Chiu was outstanding with fine tackling and good passes.

The game started with the Inter-porters attacking, but the Chinese defence held out. They continued to press, the Gosano brothers being mainly responsible for many fine openings which, however, did not materialise, until Pile booted the ball to Tang Kwong Sang who scored.

Shortly after this the Inter-porters nearly increased their score but Podmore, ballooned the ball over with the Chinese goalkeeper out of position.

The first breakaway by the Chinese was when, five minutes before the interval, Cheng Shiu Hong, after dribbling through both Duncan and Lau Mau sent in a perfect centre which, however, was frustrated by Allan.

The interval arrived with the Interporters leading by one goal.

After the interval the Chinese attacked and within a few minutes Cheng Shiu Hong equalised when he sent in a perfect shot from a centre from Li Sik Yau to beat Rodger easily.

Soon afterwards, however, A. V.
Gosano, after in one of the solo efforts regained the lead for his side with a beautiful shot.

"A.V." was again responsible for the third goal shortly afterwards when he sent in a shot that beat the backs and the goalkeeper completely.

The Chinese retaliated, however, when Li Kwok Lai, sent in a terrific drive which had Rodger beaten all the way, but Lau Mau diverted the ball with a brilliant header.

From then onwards the Inter-porters had things practically their own way, and increased their lead through Podmore, who from a neat pass from Pile, beat the goalkeeper with a fast rising shot.

Selected XI.—Rodger; Allan
and Lau Mau; Leung Wing Chui, Pardoe (Capt.) and A. Duncan;
Tang Kwong Sum, B. Gosano, A.
V. Gosano, Podmore and C. Pile.
C.A.A.F.:—Lam Tin Chan; Li
Tin Sang and Leung Yin Chan;
Tong Kwan, Wong Mei Shun
(Capt.) and Li Kwok Lai; Cheng
Shui Hong, Yeung Sui Yick, Kam
Sik Wai, Kan Chung Lam and Li Sik Yau.

SECOND DIVISION

S. CHINA v. BORDERERS

By scoring four goals for South China, Pau Ka Ping, the first division goalkeeper for South China last year, was mainly responsible for the defeat of the Borderers in their match at Sookunpoo. By this defeat, the soldiers considerably lessened their grip on the championship, as the Chinese Athletic, their nearest rivals and the present leaders of the table, beat the Club
by two goals to nil.

The game started with the Chinese attacking and they soon awarded a penalty which Pau Ka Ping converted. The Borderers, however, equalised through Hamblay who netted from close in. Pau Ka Ping again came into the picture when he regained the lead for his side. The soldiers then attacked continuously and were awarded a penalty which Matthias converted.
Before the interval Pau Ka Ping completed his "hat-trick."

After the interval the soldiers had practically the whole of the game but failed to score. In one of their occasional raids the Chinese scored through Pau Ka Ping again. Towards the end Marshfield reduced the lead for the soldiers.

LINCOLNS v. TSUNG TSIN

Playing at Caroline Hill the Lincolns beat the Tsung Tsin by two goals to one. The game was very evenly contested with the soldiers slightly superior in the forward line.

The game started with the soldiers attacking and soon afterwards McGuinness gave them the lead which they held until the interval, although Tsung Tsin were close to scoring on several occasions.

After the interval, the soldiers increased their lead through Barnes who from a nice centre from Clayton, scored with a good shot. A few minutes later Tsung Tsin reduced the lead through Lai
Wai Tai from a free kick.

NAVY v. EASTERN

No fewer than three penalties were missed by the Navy in their match with Eastern at Happy Valley. Although the Navy scored a goal through the goal-keepers, the soldiers gave a very determined display as the Navy were unable to score.

Rawson (2) and Chadwick scored for the Navy in the first half and Paffens in the second, while Lee Ping Tong reduced the lead for the Eastern.

ST. JOSEPH'S v. EWO

St. Joseph's, who are at present lying at the bottom of the League Table surprised Ewo whom they beat by five goals to one in a dull game at Happy Valley.

In the first half the Saints led by three goals and after the interval, Souza (3) increased the lead to five. He Yin Tin reduced the deficit for Ewo.

ARTILLERY v. KOWLOON

In a scrappy game played on their own ground, Kowloon lost to the Gunners by three goals to nil.

The Gunners took the lead after about twenty minutes' play when Leach scored from close in. In the second half Hardy increased the lead in a mellee in front of the goalmouth and just before the end, he ran through to score the third goal.

ATHLETICS v. CLUB

The Chinese Athletics, who are at present the leaders of the Second Division, beat the Club by two goals to nil in their encounter at Happy Valley.

No goal was scored by either side in the first half, but in the second Li Ping Piu and Shek Piu Tin scored for the Chinese.

THIRD DIVISION

BORDERERS v. LINCOLNS

The Borderers surprised the Lincolns by winning two clear goals.
In the opening minutes of the game
in the match at Chatham Road, Purdell scored for the Borderers, and although the Lincolns pressed hard they could not equalise. After the interval, Forley increased the lead for the Borderers.

R.A.F. v. RECREIO

The Airman ran riot with the Recreio, whom they beat by seven goals to nil at King's Park. A rather bad accident occurred during the game, when Marques of the Recreio fell heavily and broke his collar bone.

Gregory (2), Thomas (2) Webster, Tate and Kennish scored for the Airman and Botelho for the Recreio.

R.A.S.C. v. UNIVERSITY

This game which was played at Happy Valley ended in a win for the Service Corps by six goals to nil. Three goals were scored in the first half and three in the second.
Sands (2), Hay (3), Lazenby (1)
and Alvis (1) scored for the soldiers.

S. CHINA v. TAIKOO

A one sided match was played at Caroline Hill between South China and Taikoo, which was won by the former by seven goals to one.
Five of the South China's goals were scored in the first half, Tong Hing being responsible for three.
Play was much more even in the second half, South China scoring twice, and Taikoo replying once.

ATHLETIC v. SIGNALS

In a fast and interesting game played at Chatham Road the Signals beat the Chinese Athletic by one goal to nil. Early in the game Convey gave the Signals the lead which they held throughout.

SUPERIOR TEAM WORK

The match between the Combined Services and the Chinese yesterday at Caroline Hill attracted a large number of football fans who were treated to a display of good football by the two teams.

The Services fielded a very strong eleven and they were much better than the Chinese team on the field, but the Chinese having played together on former occasions showed much better team work and although they were penned in their own half during the whole of the game, managed to break through from time to time.

Early in the game the Services pressed, but the first break through by the Chinese resulted in Fung King Cheung netting for them.

The Services tried hard to get the equaliser, but the absence of team work in their forward line spelled their downfall and although the forwards were continually harassing Li Tin Sang and Leung Yin Chan, the Chinese backs, they never got in position to shoot.
Long shots were very frequently tried, but these proved unsuccessful.

In the second half, the Services played bright football and the halves fed the forwards well, but although more than once it looked as though they would equalise, they were slow in front of the goal and time after time allowed themselves to be robbed. Lam Yuk Ying, who played in the Chinese forward position played very well at this stage.

The Chinese managed to break away and through Fung King Cheung got behind Morrison and Chen and added a second goal for the Chinese.
From this point the game became

CHAMPIONSHIPS

FORECASTS

As stated above, it is simple to see how the pairs are placed. In the first quarter, the tie between the Lo brothers and Comdr. Shaw and Comdr. Packer should be productive of a very fine struggle, but owing to their longer partnership and better knowledge of local conditions, the Lo's are expected to win. Hazell and Williams are favourably placed to enjoy a long life in this section.

In the second quarter, Goldman and Fincher appear to be the outstanding among the eight pairs.
Lee Wai Tsoi and Luk Ding Cheung may be able to give them a good game, but are hardly capable of extending last year's runners-up.
Another good pair is A. H. Rum-jahn and F. D. Pereira.

The holders are in the third quarter, meeting S. E. Green, ex-champion, and his son, D. S. Green, in the first round. Ho Ka Lau, another ex-champion, and E. Grimble will probably engage the Rumjahns in the second round. Ng Sze (Kwong) and Tsui Wai Pui, fancied by many to go very far, meet Razack and Cassumbboy who will very likely extend the Chinese pair.

In the last quarter, Ho Ka Lau and Yew Man Kit stand out prominently. T. A. Pearson, the well-known cricketer, is partnering L.
T. Ride, and it will be interesting to see him in action. A. E. P.
Guest and E. F. Fincher stand together for the first time, and should do well.

My forecasts for the last eight places are as follows:—M. K. Lo and M. W. Lo, D. H. Hazell and W. E. Williams, L. Goldman and E. C. Fincher, A. H. Rumjahn and
F. D. Pereira, Ng Sze Kwong and Tsui Wai Pui, Ho Ka Lau and Yew
Man Kit, A. E. P. Guest and E. F.
Fincher.

uninteresting as the Chinese concentrated their efforts on defending their goal. This they did very successfully and the final whistle found them two goals ahead.

The teams were as follows:—
Combined Chinese: Lam Tin Chan,
Li Tin Sang, Leung Yin Chan; Lai
Kwok Chiu; Lam Yuk Ying; Leung
Wing Chiu; Tsui Wai Pui, Mak
Sik Hon, Fung King Cheung, Ip Fak Wah and Li Shek Yan.

Combined Services: Kinchin; Mullane, Morrison; Davey, Shirras;
Podmore; Harris, Usher, Nelems, Rowson, Seal.

FIVE-ASIDE FOOTBALL

ST. JOSEPH'S WIN AT KOWLOON F.C.

SPOT KICK COMPETITION

A very interesting series of five-aside football matches were played at the Kowloon Football Club yesterday afternoon when teams from the Club de Recreo, Kowloon Football Club, R. C. Signals, South China, S.W. Borderers, Navy and Athletic took part.

The team was set up into three forwards, a back and a goal-keeper. Five minute play each way was allowed and a fast and thrilling game resulted. With a large ground to "play about with" the players were called upon to do their best and contrary to the general belief goals were difficult to score.

The Royal Corps of Signals had a tough time against South China, neither side giving anything away. A two minute "extra time" was given but without result. After an interval they re-played their match and only after another "extra" could a decision be reached. Comby put in the decisive goal for the Signals just within the time limit.

At the conclusion of the games a spot kick competition took place in which representatives from all the teams took part. Mr. Olivera (Club de Recreo), proved to be the winner, sending the ball 173 feet. Victor (St. Joseph's) was next best at 105 feet.

The prizes were distributed by Mrs. T. A. Mitchell, wife of the President of the Kowloon Football Club.

The results:—
First Match.—St. Joseph's College v. China Athletic. St. Joseph's won by two to nil. Victor and Leonard scoring.

Second Match.—Signals v. South China. After a replay and extra time Signals won.

Third Match.—Club de Recreo v. Kowloon Football Club. Won by Club de Recreo. Watkins of the K.F.C. scoring for Recreo.

Fourth Match.—Navy v. S.W. Borderers. Won by the S.W. Borderers. Mathias scoring.

Semi-Finals.—St. Joseph's College defeated R.C. Signals two to nil. Victor and Leonard again scoring.

S.W. Borderers defeated Club de Recreo by one to nil. Pritchard scored for the Borderers.

Finals.—St. Joseph's College defeated the Borderers one to nil, the goal being scored by Leonard.

LADIES HOCKEY

CAER CLARK MATCHES

At King's Park on Saturday the Y.M.C.A. ladies gained two points in their Caer Clark match against the Central British Association ladies winning by six goals to nil.

Miss Brown scored three goals, Miss S. Dalziel (two), and the other by Miss G. Dalziel.

Hong Kong Ladies Win.
The Hong Kong ladies continued their very fine record by defeating the Club de Recreo ladies by eight goals to nil. In the first half the winners scored four goals through Miss Knill, Alan Jones, Harrop and Churchill. In the second half Miss Harrop scored a hat-trick and Miss Alan Jones put in the eighth goal. The Recreo ladies made a stern resistance but were no match against the fast combination of the Hong Kong forwards.

St. Andrew's Loss.
The St. Andrew's ladies were surprisingly beaten in their match against the Hong Kong ladies and eleven on the Naval ground by 3 goals to 2. J. Whyte (2) and M. King netted for the winners while Miss I. Wolley and F. Wong scored for the St. Andrew's ladies.

Y.M.C.A. Beat Medway.
Entertaining a team from H.M.S. Medway at King's Park, the Y.M.C.A. "A" team won by two goals to nil. W. Brown scored both goals for the Y.M.C.A.

FAIRLEA GIRLS' SCHOOL

SPEECH DAY AND PRIZES

CELEBRATION ON SATURDAY

Mrs. Kotewall distributed the certificates to the graduating classes at the Fairlea C.M.S. Girls' School speech day, the event taking place on Saturday afternoon in the Great Hall of St. Stephen's Girls' College. The Bishop of Victoria, the Right Rev. Ronald Hall was in the chair.

THE REPORT

The Headmistress, in presenting her report said:—

On behalf of the school I welcome you all here this afternoon, and especially are we pleased to have the Bishop in the Chair. His time must be so fully occupied that we are most grateful for the honour of his presence and of his help and guidance.

We are most fortunate indeed that Mrs. Kotewall has so kindly come to present our certificates. It is not the first time, and so I want to express to her, an old friend of the school, our great appreciation of her interest in our welfare.

I have just read my Annual Report in Chinese, but for the benefit of our English friends I am presenting a short summary in English.

The School re-opened in January with 232 students on the roll, of whom 40 were boarders. The health of the school has been good and an increasingly marked sense of duty and corporate school spirit has shown itself in a satisfactory daily attendance.

The Staff.

Before the summer holidays Mrs. Cooper was ill and went home on furlough. She is not coming back to Fairlea as she is to be married about Easter time. We shall miss her, but we wish her all happiness. We welcomed Miss Pope in her place.

Miss Pope started a Sunday school for the boarders; then day students joined and the numbers rose to about 60. There were seven classes, run by Miss Pope, the resident staff, two pupil teachers and some senior girls. We had Bible discussion classes and Baptism classes in the Spring and Autumn terms. Two middle school students were baptised.

There have been other changes on the staff too, but we are glad to welcome Mr. Chan, Miss Wen, Mrs. Yuor (a graduate of both St. Stephen's Girls' College and Fairlea) and Miss Kwok, who also graduated from the school to join the staff. We are exceedingly pleased at having our own graduates back to serve their old school.

The students have taken great interest in music and games, realising their value as part of their education. They have played netball and volleyball matches against other schools and whether they lost or won, the result made no difference to the spirit in which they played.

$1,000 for the M.O.I.

There are nine graduates from the Middle School, and nineteen from the Primary School. Nine girls are receiving St. John Ambulance certificates. Three of the Middle School girls are teaching now, while one is taking a course in nursing at the Tung Wah Hospital; the other five are studying more English. The Primary graduates are continuing to study Chinese Literature.

Through the efforts of both the Staff and Students we were able to raise over $1,000.00 at the M.O.I. Sale held in December. All the money has been distributed to different charities in Hong Kong and inland China. Students have been regularly to visit the Government Civil Hospital to visit the sick and spread the Gospel of Love.

We lent two class rooms for the Summer Poor School and several Middle School students came back to teach the poor children during the summer holidays.

The School Motto.

Thus we try to understand our motto:—"Where love is, God is," and I wish we would always listen to that gentle voice above saying:—"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Then we should use what we learn at school to help make this world a better place, thus serving God and our fellowmen.

Full of Energy
and Cheer—

free from depressing ailments—wouldn't you like to be like that? Of course you would. And you can!

For unless you are suffering from some organic disease, there is absolutely no reason why that feeling of youthful health should be denied you, even though middle-age is approaching.

Thousands have been faced with the same troubles and worries and have regained their former health and strength by taking a course of Sanatogen. It will improve your health and strengthen your nerves, too.

Read what a physician wrote about Sanatogen in the "Medical Press & Circular."

"Sanatogen is readily absorbed by the stomach and has an immediate and remarkable effect upon a steady increase of strength and energy. At the same time the colour is brought back to the cheeks."

Why let another day pass with your nerves depressed and your vitality lowered? Go now to the nearest Chemist or Store-keeper and get a bottle of Sanatogen. Then you will soon feel the remarkably favourable effect of Sanatogen on your health.

SANATOGEN

The True Tonic Food
Obtainable at all Chemists and Stores.
Beware of cheap imitations. Always get the genuine Sanatogen.

BERNARD SHAW AND THE BIBLE

A CHALLENGE TO FAITH

"DARING FABLE FROM SOUTH AFRICA"

THE ADVENTURES OF THE BLACK GIRL IN HER SEARCH FOR GOD. By Bernard Shaw. 2s. 6d. Constable.

In his latest and wholly characteristic divagation, Mr. Bernard Shaw puts his introduction at the end of his story. "And now, the story being written," he explains, "I proceed to speculate on what it means, though I cannot too often repeat that I am as liable as anyone else to err in my interpretation."

He wrote the tale, it seems, when he was in South Africa last year. He had intended to write a play, but he found himself writing the story of the Black Girl instead; and when he had obeyed the imperious bidding of his demon, he permitted himself to ask what he meant by it. Such uncertainty meant by it. Such uncertainty meant by it. Such uncertainty meant by it.

He was not surprised in the author of "St. Joan," for the story of the Black Girl is an unparaphrased assault upon traditional pieties. Whether he meant it or not, Mr. Shaw has, in effect, attempted to deconstruct the Bible. He argues that "the extraordinary artistic value of the English translation has given it a magical power over its readers, until it is accepted and worshipped as a single book by a single author, the book being the Book of Books and the author being God."

"In this confusion," he argues, "I venture to suggest that we neither leave the Bible in the clouds nor attempt the impossible task of suppressing it. Why not simply bring it down to the ground and take it for what it really is?"

In plain words, as we cannot get rid of the Bible, it will get rid of us unless we learn to read it in the proper spirit.

Many Gods.

According to Mr. Shaw, who is at least very much in earnest, and not just indulging a spirit of mockery: "The Bible presents in with a succession of gods, each being a striking improvement on the previous one, marking an ascent of Man to a nobler and deeper conception of Nature."

That is the theme of the Black Girl's adventures—a girl who, having been converted by the woman missionary, "took her knickerbockers and strode right off into the African forest in search of God."

Here was, indeed, an extremely sophisticated simplicity. Though she wore no clothes—a circumstance which the clever and original illustrations throw into high relief—she had an intelligence as acute and nimble as Mr. Shaw's itself, and she could easily confound in argument all the gods, prophets, and philosophers whom she was fortunate enough to meet in her forest wanderings. And she had some strange encounters—Noah's Jehovah, Job's Jehovah, Micah's Jehovah, Christ, Mahomet, an Athenian, and an experimental biologist.

She also met a "Curator of the Curious," Mr. Shaw's familiar satire upon the British ruling caste in a new guise. Finally, the Black Girl meets Voltaire, who proves a congenial spirit, and whom she assists to cultivate his garden in which she finds "a red-haired Irishman labouring in the back garden where they grew the kitchen stuff." The illustrator plainly suggests that this red-haired Irishman is to be identified with Mr. Shaw himself, in spite of the fact that the story ends with the Black Girl's marriage to the Irishman, and the dedication of her life to the rearing of a dusky, alien brood.

An ironic conclusion, one may say, to a search for God, though Mr. Shaw himself, no doubt, would refuse to admit it. That concluding touch of farce mars the effect of a narrative that is mostly on a high plane of seriousness and is told with unflinching wit and skill, and though its incidents and arguments are startling, they are not deliberately irreverent; they do not offend as do some of the phrases in which Mr. Shaw has cast his epilogue. There, in places, he seems to have studied how to shock susceptibilities. The final impression of the reader is that Mr. Shaw would, after all, have been better employed in writing the play that he meant to write—at least, that would be the impression of the reader if he had not seen "Too True to be Good."
